LAKELAND LEISURE ESTATES

Description

Step aboard Cam, a 71ft traditional narrowboat that carries the soul of a working boat with all the rustic charm of its original design. Built in 1957 as a British Waterways (BWB) workboat, Cam has been beautifully refitted in 2025, maintaining its historic character while offering modern comforts that blend seamlessly with its traditional style. The boat retains its trad stern, classic lines, and timeless details, making it the perfect choice for anyone seeking a true heritage experience on the water.

The layout aboard Cam is a thoughtful blend of comfort and traditional functionality. With 2+2 berths, the boat offers cosy sleeping arrangements, with a fixed double bed in the master bedroom and a drop-down bed in the boatman's cabin. The boatman's cabin, with its drop-down 4'6" bed, offers a traditional touch of narrowboat life, while providing comfortable accommodations for guests or an intimate space to relax. The master bedroom features a hand-built double bed, crafted with attention to detail, and is complemented by wall-mounted cupboards for practical storage. The design ensures that every corner of Cam serves a purpose, offering a perfect balance of space and function.

The galley aboard Cam embraces its retro style while staying true to the traditional aesthetic of a working narrowboat. The kitchen is filled with handcrafted details, including a Welsh dresser and solid teak work surfaces that provide a rich, tactile feel to the space. The large Belfast sink is ideal for washing up after a busy day, while the Rayburn cooking range adds an authentic touch of traditional narrowboat living. Modern conveniences like a fitted washing machine and fridge/freezer have been discreetly incorporated to ensure functionality without detracting from the classic style. A side hatch allows for natural light and fresh air, creating an inviting atmosphere while you prepare meals onboard.

The lounge of Cam captures the essence of narrowboat living with its free-standing chaise-lounge and solid wood floor. This space is designed for comfort, offering a perfect spot to relax after a day spent cruising the waterways. The traditional wooden features of the lounge, along with the charm of the boatman's cabin, offer an authentic experience of living aboard a historic boat. The master bedroom continues the traditional theme with its hand-built double bed and wall-mounted cupboards, offering both comfort and practicality. The inclusion of a side hatch allows the room to be bathed in natural light, ensuring a pleasant and airy environment as you rest.

The boatman's cabin is a traditional gem, designed to evoke the history of working narrowboats. The handcrafted cupboards with glass fronts and the floor-to-ceiling wardrobe combine elegance and function in a way that reflects the authentic character of the boat. The drop-down 4'6" bed provides a cosy resting spot, while the traditional boatman's cooking range offers warmth and comfort during colder months. The fitted steps leading to the stern maintain the classic narrowboat design while ensuring easy access to the rear of the vessel. This cabin encapsulates the heritage of narrowboat living, offering an intimate space filled with warmth and history.

The bathroom aboard Cam continues the theme of traditional design, offering the necessary comforts for daily living. The full-sized shower unit is both practical and spacious, while the Thetford cassette toilet provides a reliable waste disposal solution. A sink with vanity unit offers ample space for toiletries, and the full-height cupboard houses the immersion heater for hot water. With its blend of functional design and traditional finishes, the bathroom provides everything you need for comfortable living aboard.
